

National ACademic ADvising Association

• Home • About NACADA • Events • Membership • Resources • Awards • Services •

Videos/CDs

1. Faculty Advising Training \(V01\)
2. Academic Advising: Campus Collaborations to Foster Retention \(V02\)
3. Foundations of Academic Advising CD 1: What is Academic Advising? \(DCD01A\)
4. Foundations of Academic Advising CD 2: Academic Advising Delivery Models \(DCD01B\)

For more information regarding the videos, contact Bev Martin at bmartin@ksu.edu.

V01 - NACADA Faculty Advising Training Video

This video addresses the practical issues of advising students within a variety of situations. It includes eight vignettes, six of which show a developing relationship between a first year student uncertain of her major choices and a new faculty advisor. The last two scenes deal with unique needs of adult students. Commentary focuses on the most effective methods for handling each situation. While this is developed primarily for faculty advisors, feedback from directors of advising shows it would be helpful for peer and professional advisor audiences as well. This video is accompanied by a comprehensive handbook with exercises, questions and overhead templates.

Released April 1996

Order Number: V01

Member Price: $205

Nonmember Price: $260

Click here for the order form

V02 - Academic Advising: Campus Collaborations to Foster Retention

Videotape of a teleconference produced by the National Academic Advising Association in collaboration with PBS Adult Learning Service.

Current issues, information and techniques regarding academic advising are covered in this video of the telecast to approximately 500 campuses across the country in November 1999. Panelists cover various topics in advising and answer callers' questions.

Key topics include:

- Relationship between advising and retention
- Advising national survey results
- Organizational models for the delivery of advising
- Advising as teaching
- Advisor training
- Cultural issues in advising
- Released December 1999
- Order Number: V02

Order Number: V02

Member Price: $125