Achieving the Dream leads a national network of over 200 innovative and student-focused community colleges across 35 states and the District of Columbia dedicated to increasing access and success for all students.

Achieving the Dream's eleven years of experience has taught us:

- Bold and transformative improvements in the way we serve our students are required to significantly increase student outcomes.

- A comprehensive framework that aligns student success initiatives and resources will bring college faculty, staff, and administrative together to support the success of all students.

DREAM Institute themes align with ATD's new Institutional Capacity Framework, which identifies the seven core capacities required for higher education institutions to create a student-focused culture that promotes student success.
